This is a large imposing house set high on a hill. It is three bays wide and slightly deeper. There is a rather gently sloping A-roof. All the windows are 6/6 sashes and the door occupies the right front bay. There is a chimney on each end of the main house. To the right of the main house is a lower two bay wide 2-1/2 story fieldstone wing. There is also a chimney on the end of this wing. There are two peaked dormers on the roof of the main house. Around the roof line is a heavy Victorian cornice with brackets. All the chimneys also have Victorian molded brick caps. There is a porch which runs across the front and around the left side of the house. The proportions of this house are large and it has a very monumental appearance. The date is carved on a stone on the left gable end. There is also a very interesting Victorian cornerrib with two small cupolas and a very rare triple decker barn, also surmounted by a cupola. This is a very well maintained structure with unusual out-buildings. → Arthur MacArthur Excellent condition
